OVERVIEW

The environmental revolution has been in the making for almost four decades now and it has changed forever how companies do business. While it started with corporations in a state of denial regarding their impact on the environment, today most companies have accepted their responsibility to do no harm to the environment. Products and processes are becoming cleaner, and where such change is under way, the environment is on the mend. In the industrialized world, more and more companies are "going green" as they realise that they can reduce pollution and increase profits simultaneously.

The onus of saving the earth has moved from companies to countries. Time has come to put the net zero goals into action.

There are only 2 countries that have achieved their target so far, while others have moved it to 2030 and beyond. India has pledged to achieve net zero emissions by 2070 and the government's commitment is visible with India achieving 40% of its power capacity from non-fossil sources, 9 years ahead of target in 2022.

When we think of mitigating climate change and reducing carbon footprints, turning off lights and driving less tops the list of activities. However, organic and inorganic waste produced by each individual is also a huge contributor to global greenhouse gas emissions. Waste is an inevitable bi-product of human life.

Whether large or small, each of us produces waste. While this is an unavoidable part of our cycle, how we manage the waste becomes the most important factor that affects climate change.

Improper waste management not only produces litter everywhere but also affects our environment, resulting in air, land and water pollution. The mantra to doing our bit is to refuse, reduce, reuse, and recycle. Refuse to purchase whatever is not necessary. Reduce waste production by buying only what you need, Reuse things instead of throwing them away after a single use. Recycle what can't be reused.

While countries have begun to prioritize health, clean and green environment in their efforts to protect people from the impact of climate change, only about a quarter of those recently surveyed by the World Health Organization have been able to fully implement their national health and climate change plans or strategies.

The ball has been set rolling and it is time for me to ramp up the efforts. A step in this direction is the World Environment Expo 2025 (WEE 2025) along with the World Environment Conference 2025 (WEC 2025), being organized by Green Society of India and Indian Exhibition Services with the support of various Ministries and Trade Associations.

ABOUT THE EVENT (WEE 2025)

WEE 2025 is a b2b business platform that will bring together Indian and international environmental technology and equipment manufacturers and suppliers to showcase the very best of technologies in the areas of environmental protection, services, renewable energy, waste management, sustainable buildings, water management, new innovations, and energy efficiency. Exhibitors can display their innovations and technologies to prospective collaborators and policymakers and will be able to connect and network with fellow entrepreneurs. The event will attract overseas exhibitors from America, Germany, Belgium, France, Japan, Korea, Canada, Sweden, the Netherlands, and other countries. The main aim of the expo is to create awareness for the environment, showcase use of technology for environment protection, research & development for new environmental protection technology and provide business opportunities to environment technology and equipment manufacturers. The World Environment Conference (WEC 25) themed around "Save Nature-Save Future" will be held on World Environment Day. The conference will provide an opportunity to discuss and debate technology in the environment, policies in place and the road ahead. WEC 25 would present a global networking opportunity with policy makers, researchers, NGO's, academicians, industrialists and government agencies. The conference is expected to be attended by around 2000 top professionals from across vertical and segments. Save Nature - Save Future

04th

JUNE, 2025

India Expo Centre,
Greater Noida,
U.P., India

Theme: Life Principles for Ecosystem Restoration: Stakeholders Perspectives

OVERVIEW

A wise man once said – We don't inherit the Earth from our ancestors, we borrow it from our children. The importance of nature is beyond verbal explanations. Saving nature is saving us from the threat. Hence, we should do anything and everything in our power, for our own good. 2020 showed us how the nature revived when people were forced to stay indoors due to pandemic. Blue skies, dolphins happily swimming and air as fresh as in the mountains. However, since staying indoors is not a practical solution, we need to look at ways on how to cut down on carbon footprints, greenhouse gases, melting of ice, cut down on landfills.
